

Pratibha Singh

Manager, Technology Advancement Unit (TAU)
Indo-Swiss Collaboration in Biotechnology
Department of Biotechnology (DBT)
Ministry of Science and Technology
Government of India, New Delhi, India
E-mail: singhpratibha@hotmail.com
Mobile: +91 9311090750

Pratibha has completed her Ph. D from Tottori University, Japan with major in Plant Pathology in 2000. She has more than ten years of research experience in molecular plant pathology on various fungal diseases of cereal crops, fruit crops, wheat, rice, apple, European and Japanese pears and viral diseases of potato. She also has extensive research experience in academia in Tottori University, Japan, G.B. Pant University of Agriculture & Technology, India and Cornell University, United States. She has worked in national & international government, semi-government organizations (Indian Agricultural Research Institute, Indian Council of Agricultural Research, Agriculture and Agri-Food Canada and United State Department of Agriculture). She played a major role as research scientist in corporate biotech industry (E.I. DuPont India Pvt. Ltd., India). She has been trained as internal auditor as per ISO 19011 and Quality Management System, ISO 9001:2008 standards from Pioneer Hi-bred International. Her expertise areas are regulatory compliance developing product stewardship and research management training programs as per BIO-ETS modules for agricultural biotechnology.